William Glasemann, Publisher.
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER
(Established 1870.)

This paper will always fight for progress and reform. It will not knowingly tolerate injustice or corruption and will always fight demagogues of all parties, it will oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, it will never lack sympathy with the poor, it will always remain devoted to the public welfare and will never be satisfied with merely printing news. It will always be drastically independent and will never be afraid to attack wrong, whether committed by the rich or the poor.

WHEREIN THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

The Salt Lake Tribune is not at all pleased with the Standard's criticism of its editorial condemnation of New Jersey's anti-trust legislation. The Tribune says its position is misunderstood; that in the article on New Jersey legislation it simply stated facts. A mere recital of facts, passed off as editorial opinion, is somewhat misleading.

Here is a quotation from the Tribune on this subject:

"We have shown, and used the New Jersey illustration as a further demonstration, that state legislation is ineffective in this matter; that what is needed always, in order to control interstate business and corporations engaged therein, is incorporation to be subject to the regulation of congress, and beyond the control of the several states. Intelligent and candid Tribune readers understand perfectly that this is our position, and always has been. The effort to make it appear that we do not believe in regulating combinations and trusts merely because we want them more perfectly regulated than states are able to do, is at once imbecile and dishonest."

Don't get angry, Mr. Tribune. Hold your temper. Let us reason together. You concede that trusts should be controlled and regulated. Therefore, we take it, there is something dangerous in allowing those trusts to go out unrestricted and prey on the public. If that be true, then why is it not as important that each state should recognize its misconduct in unleashing these menacing organizations as it is that New York state should acknowledge its responsibility in going out in pursuit of its insane and criminal fugitives? Every one of these predatory organizations is a creation of some state, and until national legislation takes cognizance of the wrongs thus perpetrated against unoffending states, the guilty commonwealths should proceed to make amends for their wrong doing.

Now, Mr. Tribune, do you grasp the point, and do you realize your shortcomings in laboring against corrective measures by states that have licensed national plunderers?

THE NOSE IN THE TELEPHONE

That we all do part of our talking through the nose has been a fact overlooked by the makers of telephones until of late, as is disclosed by the following taken from a French paper by Literary Digest:

"Hitherto, technicians have striven to increase the clearness of telephone transmission either by careful attention to the electro-magnetic sensibility of the microphones or by automatism, or by modifying the electric controls and conductors. But no investigator has dreamed of deducing useful improvements of the telephone from a study of the human voice. Starting from physiological considerations of this kind, Dr. Jules Glover has invented a device by which he obtains a considerable amplification of the sound, as well as perfect clearness of the words, so valuable in long distance conversation."

"As, in the telephone, the current acts on the receiving magnet not by its own intensity, but especially by its vibrations, it is necessary, in order to bring about the precise sensitization of the inner ear, and the complete impression of the auditory centers, to endeavor to reproduce very exactly the modulations of the voice. Now, on issuing from the pharynx, the sound waves reach the soft palate, which dissociates them into two unequal groups, one escaping from the nose, the other from the mouth. Therefore, we ought to try to transmit both these groups of vibrations, but our ordinary telephones receive only those from the mouth, so that nearly half the voice remains unutilized. The fact may be experimentally verified by recording photographically the intensity of the variations of the microphonic current with an oscillograph, and also by examination of the vocal vibrations and their fixation on plates of bi-chromated gelatin. The prints and traces are different for the nose and the mouth, in the case of the same verbal formation.

"In Dr. Glover's 'intensive telephone' the whole voice takes part in the elaboration of the electro-magnetic phenomena. It is different from the ordinary devices in having two transmitters, or two groups of transmitters, of different sensitiveness, for the nose and the mouth. The whole is fixed at the two extremities of a tube."

"Dr. Glover does not guarantee that the laws of diction will be perfectly respected by his invention, for with his new microphones the nasal transmitter works better than the vocal! But what difference does it make so long as the hearer understands better?"

THE LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON

This is the end of the Union association league baseball season, with Ogden in the "cellar." The closing games prove that the team as now organized is of championship class. In fact one of the officials of the Salt Lake club has admitted that the local players would have been contenders for the pennant had they been brought together earlier in the season.

Whatever the standing of the club, we have this to be proud of:

The directors have stood for clean sport and have made an enviable record to that end, and the boys they have assembled are gentlemen, on and off the diamond. We would prefer to have tail-enders of clean make up and shout for them than to go wild over champion hoodlums. This is not intended as an odious comparison and is a little generalizing, without having any particular league in mind.

Now for next season. With strengthening in the box and the adding of one or two strong hitters, the present team should be fast enough for any league in this region.

THE TWO DAYS OF FASHION SHOW

The Fashion Show will be the greatest attraction Ogden has ever presented. Of this we are certain by virtue of the fact that the men who are behind the show are bright, brainy fellows with the indomitable energy that spells success. These builders of a future for this city have their coats off and they are creating something worth while. They are entering into the undertaking with spirit; they are planning elaborately; they are contributing their own money; they are resolved to excel, and they are bound to reach their goal.

We want every man, woman and child to appreciate what is being done and to lend themselves to the occasion with the enthusiasm of a people that love their city and are proud of its achievements.

The Fashion Show will be an entertainment with educational as well as spectacular features, and there will be two days of real enjoyment for people of all temperaments.

Ogden is to be in her best bib and tucker and, if the visitors do not fall in love with her, we shall be sorry for them.

THE MENTAL ATTITUDE COUNTS.

A press dispatch from New York says:

"Declaring that she sought a term in jail as a 'rest' from twenty years of unremitting housework, a well-dressed woman about 40 years of age, who refused to give her name, is in the Raymond street jail in Brooklyn, held for deliberately seeking arrest. She went into a department store, calmly filled her arms with articles and was arrested as she went out. She told Magistrate Nash when arraigned that she had been 'starving for human kindness' and that the first of such attentions she had enjoyed in years were the ministrations of the police matron."

"Married life for a good woman in moderate circumstances," she said to the magistrate, "seems to mean nothing but household drudgery, endless and thankless. For years I have needed some sort of change."

One of our prominent business men who is deeply interested in all public questions, writes us:

"It certainly is most unfortunate, so many of us in this world do not know how to live, and are unable to encourage the proper attitude of mind to improve our conditions."

The woman in jail who sought human kindness might have found that condition had she known how to accept the world. No doubt she was burdened by an unappreciative husband; perhaps she was in part responsible for the chill of the home. If the husband failed to do his part in making their lives cheerful, the wife should not have lost heart but should have proceeded to create for herself soul comfort and mind ease by having a high purpose in life, even though

WORLD'S MARKETS

WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 13.—Union Pacific continued its advance when trading began today, crossing 160 for the first time on this movement. On the first few transactions it advanced to 161 1/2—a gain of 1 1/2. There was an active demand for the other leading stocks and the tone of the market was strong. Steel, Reading and General Electric rose a point; Canadian Pacific advanced 3 points and American Tobacco 3 1/2.

Profit taking sales appeared in volume after Union Pacific crossed 160, and that stock reacted a point and became quieter.

The market closed strong. Speculation was a broader and more general character today and less prominence was given to special stocks. Union Pacific, Reading and Steel assumed the leadership in turn and the home market gave a consistent display of strength.

The evidence scarcity of stocks facilitated the upturn, which in some cases, approached the spectacular.

This was especially true of Reading, which rose 4 points and Canadian Pacific, which gained 5 1/2. The rise extended to a point where it became evident that short covering was not alone responsible, and buying for the long account was more confident.

Trading was on the largest scale of the week's bull movement. Transactions in the first hour were on the basis of a million-share day.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Wine—pure wine—is to be a thing of the past under the pending tariff bill in the opinion of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist for the government. In an appeal today he calls to arms all the patrons of all the lobster palaces of all the big cities, as well as those who value wine for wine's sake, to join in battle against the senate change that in his opinion would permit the adulteration of fermented grape juice.

"Let the people who are interested in the purity of products," he appealed, "immediately protest against this outrageous attempt to debauch the wines of this country."

The objection of Dr. Wiley is based on the provision that permits the addition, "before, during or after fermentation" of sugar, grape juice or water, not to exceed 20 per cent of the total of pure fermented grape juice. This, Dr. Wiley contends, lets down the bars to all descriptions of adulteration, as no one can tell the original quantity of original fermented grape juice after the adulterants have been added.

"It only remains now," says Dr. Wiley, scornfully, "for the senate to define whisky as an alcoholic beverage, made of neutral spirits, burnt sugar and synthetic flavors, and beer as a beverage made of any old thing that will ferment and embittered with anything that is bitter, from capsaicin to aloes, to complete the debasement of American beverages."
